President's Message

The National March for Life In Ottawa this month was quite well attended; the Stratford & District Right to Life sent a busload this year. In retaliation, the Trudeau Liberals released a revolting video (the same day) championing abortion (see article). MP Patty Hadju even claims abortion "saves lives"; she will not acknowledge that a child is murdered (all this is propaganda and lies). The following Sunday in May was Mother's Day. An elementary school honoured mothers with a billboard that read "Life does not come with a manual, it comes with a Mom". These kids got it right, but apparently this is not inclusive enough. So the school ended up replacing their sign with something totally generic (see article). We hope that all of you moms had a beautiful Mother's Day. And we wish all dads a blessed Father's Day in June. Moms and Dads are all very special people; we would not be here without you.

Please follow the youtube link to a video featuring Dr. Monique Ruberu as she examines In Vitro Fertilization and contraceptives from the pro-life view. She points out the utter disregard of all the fertilized embryos that are chucked as medical waste, with no regard for them as human beings. Check out the film "Nefarious" (see article). I, personally, have never seen a film that cements the fact that euthanasia and abortion are murder as well as this one does.

Our Family Day is fast approaching; this year it will be on Sunday June 4, 2023 at the Rostock Community Centre, Rostock. The action starts at 2 pm. with games and prizes, children's activities, and an extensive playground. Hot dogs and hamburgers will be on the bbq and there will also be other treats. It will be a free day for families to enjoy. Hope that we see all of you there.

Due to health issues, I will be stepping down as President of the Stratford & District Right to Life at our Annual Meeting this fall. It has been an honour for me to act as President of your right to life group for the past two years. I have been blessed to work with a dedicated group of board members; thank you to all of you for your unwavering support in this cause for life.

This is THE most important right that there is; our God given Right to Life.

Blessings, Virginia Miller

Trudeau Liberals release video fawning over abortion during annual March for Life in Ottawa

OTTAWA (LifeSiteNews) — A number of MPs in Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's Liberal Party released a video Thursday championing abortion on the same day thousands of Canadians gathered in Ottawa for the annual March for Life.

The video, posted to Twitter by Liberal MP Jenna Sudds, was accompanied by a written statement explaining, "Our caucus is proudly #prochoice — and always will be," and began with MP Patty Hajdu saying she is in favor of abortion because "it saves lives."

The creators of the pro-abortion promotion then explained that they had "asked Liberal MPs to tell us why they're proudly pro-choice," with the video subsequently showing over a dozen Liberal Party members appearing on-screen to outline their rationale for supporting killing in the womb.

The rest of the video featured similar statements, with the Liberal politicians continually calling their support for killing children in the womb – which in Canada includes allowing the killing and dismemberment of babies throughout all nine months of pregnancy – as being "pro-choice," without ever defining or describing the reality of the abortion procedure.

Many of the politicians – including MPs Adam Van Koeverden, Ya'ara Saks, and Tim Louis – reiterated familiar pro-abortion talking points, such as women having the "right" to murder their unborn children, or mistakenly identifying autonomy over one's body with autonomy over the separate body of an unborn baby.

Shockingly, one Liberal MP, Brenda Shanahan, even invoked her identity as a "Catholic" as one of the reasons she is pro-abortion, despite the Catholic Church's unchangeable condemnation of the practice as a grave moral evil.

Reacting to the video and the fact that it was released on the same day as the largest annual pro-life event in the country, Campaign Life Coalition political operations director Jack Fonseca blasted the Trudeau Liberals as the "party of death."

"That the Trudeau Liberals chose the most important pro-life day of the year to launch this video shows just how pugnacious, vile and nasty they are towards Canadians who disagree with them generally, and towards pro-life Canadians in particular," Fonseca told LifeSiteNews via email on Friday.

"They did this to rub it in our faces," he continued. "It also demonstrates how fanatical Justin Trudeau and his Liberal MPs are about murdering preborn children."

"They speak of the violent dismemberment, disembowelment and decapitation of Canadian children with absolute glee and satisfaction, like some kind of death cult," he lamented. "The Liberal Party has gone off the deep end. It is truly the party of death."

Fonseca also highlighted the statement from Shanahan, expressing disgust that she would call herself a "practicing Catholic" in a video in which she is lauding abortion.

"I'm particularly repulsed by MP Brenda Shanahan who had the gall to claim in her video statement that she's 'a practicing Catholic,' in the same breath that she promoted child-killing," Fonseca charged in his statements to LifeSiteNews.

Conservative Party of Canada remains silent on abortion

While Trudeau Liberals seem to be ramping up their already fierce and frequent pro-abortion rhetoric, Fonseca pointed out that the Conservative Party of Canada, under leader Pierre Poilievre, has remained noticeably silent on the issue.

"It is very disappointing that the Conservatives didn't have any kind of response," Fonseca told LifeSiteNews. "There are about 40 pro-life MPs in the Conservative caucus who should be personally offended by this shameful affront to the sanctity of human life."

"To ignore it is dumb and misses a great opportunity to show up Trudeau as a divisive extremist and bully," he added.

Continuing, Fonseca said the Conservatives "should've come up with a video of their own in response, even if just to expose the Liberals' abortion extremism and insensitivity to people of faith."

"It wouldn't have been difficult at all to show that Liberals are being deliberately insulting to Canadians from many different faith communities who believe in the sanctity of life, including the majority of new immigrants whom Trudeau is counting on to vote for him," Fonseca stated.

"It wouldn't have been difficult at all for a Conservative video response to cite readily available public polling statistics on the huge level of opposition to misogynistic, sex-selective abortions (80% according to the latest polls), which target baby girls in the womb just because they're girls," he continued. "Or to highlight how Trudeau is such an abortion extremist that he wants to shut down pregnancy care centers who provide diapers and baby formula for pregnant mothers and their unborn babies, thus hurting women for the sake of his ideology."

"Poilievre should call me up if he ever wants ideas on how to make a stunt like this backfire on Trudeau, and give him a black eye," he concluded.

C Bill C-314 prohibits (MAiD) euthanasia for mental disorders

Alex Schadenberg,
Executive Director, Euthanasia Prevention Coalition

Bill C-314 will have it's first hour of debate on Wednesday May 17.

The Euthanasia Prevention Coalition (EPC) thanks the Hon Ed Fast MP for introducing Bill C-314, a bill that would prohibit euthanasia for mental illness. EPC supports Bill C-314 since it amends the Criminal Code to prohibit euthanasia for people with a mental disorder.

Bill C-314 will have it's first hour of debate on Wednesday, May 17. When you sign the petition supporting Bill C-314, the message of support will go to his office.

If you have already signed the petition, please consider sending Ed Fast an email message to encourage and thank him. Email: ed.fast@parl.gc.ca

Bill C-314 is published below:

BILL C-314: An Act to amend the Criminal Code
(medical assistance in dying)

Preamble;

Whereas Parliament considers it a priority to ensure that adequate supports are in place for the mental health of Canadians;

Whereas Parliament considers that vulnerable Canadians should receive suicide prevention counselling rather than access medical assistance in dying;

Whereas Parliament considers that Canada's medical assistance in dying regime risks normalizing assisted dying as a solution for those suffering from a mental disorder;

Now, therefore, His Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows:

Criminal Code

1 Subsection 241.2(2.1) of the Criminal Code is replaced by the following:

Exclusion

(2.1) For the purposes of subsection (2) a mental disorder is not a grievous and irremediable medical condition.

Sign our petition supporting Bill C-314
(<https://epcc.ca/petitions/>).

Please contact your Member of Parliament and say that you support Bill C-314 that prohibits euthanasia for mental illness alone.

Happy Mother's Day! To Everyone Except The Gutless Wonders At Kew Beach Junior Public School

You have to be kidding me.

At the Kew Beach Junior Public School, Toronto, some loving sixth graders got together and formulated a message to honor their mothers for Mother's Day. The message was then posted on a sign outside of the school.

The message read: "Life does not come with a manual. It comes with a mom."

A woman who also happens to be a mother of four, unbelievably took issue with the sign.

After seeing it, she posted this message to a local parenting group on Facebook: "I don't know if this is a terribly misguided attempt at wishing folks a happy Mother's Day or just generally the worst sign possible. I don't feel like this represents the neighborhood it's in, the cohort of families at this school, or anything really."

How shallow is someone's life when they drive by a school, that none of her children attend, and feel compelled to pull over, take a picture and then criticize the sign on social media?

Sadly, this nutcase actually had people agree with her. Probably most of which were part of the so called "parenting group" that she posted the original message on. After all, "birds of a feather flock together." Some of the morons that chimed in called the message, "inappropriate," "in bad taste," and "mega exclusionary." Some others offered a weak argument, stating that it excluded, "kids in foster care, kids with two dads, kids who have no contact with their moms, kids who have abusive moms, or those who may or may not see their mother figure as the one who holds the manual of life."

Not content to be unhappy in their own lives

Not content to be unhappy in their own lives, these petulant whiners called and emailed the school and the weak kneed, gutless officials on the school board took down the sign. In a statement, the Toronto District school board spokesperson, Shari-Schwartz-Maltz said this:

"Grade 6 students at Kew Beach came up with the first quote collectively as they prepare for Mother's Day this weekend, to share how much they care for and depend on their moms. After receiving feedback from critics, the school recognized that this quote does not reflect the inclusivity of our community and took immediate steps to address the issue. The Mother's Day message has been replaced with an encouraging acronym for May that avoids any mention of mothers. The new sign reads: "M: Make this month count A: Accomplish your goals Y: You can do this."

I'm not sure what is the most repulsive part of this story. Is it the woke busybody that is so small minded that she felt the need to complain just for the sake of complaining? Is it the leftists that piled on for no reason, or is it the disgustingly, pathetic school board that forgot their values and surrendered.

What was this school board thinking? It's a shame that anyone would have to get technical about a Mother's Day message, but if you do, you'll find that it is factually correct. Every single person, including the idiots that complained, have a mother. The message excludes no one, and if you are so thin skinned, that a message created by sixth graders offends you, I suggest you stay locked in your house with the lights out and sulk.

The same goes for the Manitoba high school, that also decided they were going to cancel Mother's Day and Father's Day celebrations. In a memo, the Vice Principal of Kildonan East Collegiate, a public high school wrote: "As we continue to learn and recognize the importance of celebrating all people in our community, we have moved away from isolated observances of specific traditions like Mother's and Father's Day."

Baby Olivia' will give North Dakota students a window to the womb

On Thursday, April 6, 2023, North Dakota Governor Doug Burgum signed into law HB 1265, which enacts a new section in North Dakota Century Code regarding growth and development in human sexuality.

The bill mandates that schools show a medically accurate, cutting-edge, high-definition video in the classroom to educate students on preborn human development in each week of pregnancy until birth.

The model video presented by State Senator Janne Myrdal for schools to use was a version of Live Action's human development video known as "Baby Olivia." Senate House Bill 1265 was sponsored by Senator Myrdal, who believes the video will enhance classroom discussion on human life.

"Human development in the womb is obviously a part of science, something we want our children to learn and see... what I would call a divine concept," said Senator Myrdal from the floor.

Under HB 1265, both health curriculum and human sexuality instruction must show a high definition video showing the development of vital organs in early fetal development. Seeing human growth and development in two separate classes will enhance scholastic excellence and will now be the state standard in schools across North Dakota before high school graduation.

Lila Rose, Founder and President of Live Action, released the following statement:

When people learn the truth about the humanity of children in the womb, and the barbaric procedures abortionists use to kill them, they change. They become pro-life. North Dakota has taken a huge leap forward towards a more comprehensive understanding of how every human person began by ensuring all 116,639 students in North Dakota will be shown the truth of human development [... with] one of the options presented for school district use being Live Action's cutting-edge educational video Baby Olivia.

New 'Nefarious' film defies Hollywood's typical portrayals of abortion

The entertainment industry is one of the abortion industry's biggest propaganda outlets.

Loosely based on the bestselling novel, "A Nefarious Plot," written by conservative radio host Steve Deace, the film "Nefarious" tells the story of psychiatrist Dr. James Martin, portrayed by Jordan Belfi, who is interviewing a prisoner on death row (Edward) played by Sean Patrick Flanery. The prisoner claims to be possessed by a demon, which he says led to the crimes for which he was sentenced.

During their interaction in one scene, Edward reveals that he knows Dr. Martin's girlfriend is about to have an abortion and that the psychiatrist will abandon her once the deed is done. Dr. Martin responds with all of the usual pro-abortion talking points, claiming it is her body and therefore her choice, adding that he is not ready to be a father. He refers to the killing of his preborn child euphemistically as an "elective termination."

The prisoner, Edward, then mocks Dr. Martin, telling him that all Hell celebrates when a child is deliberately killed in the womb. In a panic, Dr. Martin rushes to stop his girlfriend with a phone call, only to discover that it is too late. He shows regret about the decision and confronts Edward about his knowledge. The prisoner dismisses this, telling him it was a murder.

Through the protagonist's dialogue, we hear all of the flowery, euphemistic language that the propagandists use, while the antagonist mocks this and declares abortion for what it truly is: the direct and intentional killing of a child in the womb. No amount of Hollywood glamour can hide that fact.

Prayer Request

On April 11, 2023 from Jakki Jeffs –

I am emailing you to ask for prayers for a young couple and their preborn daughter of 20 weeks. It seems that the amniotic fluid is not at the level that it should be for the baby's age and the medical team has suggested induced abortion, which the parents do not want.

Please pray for this situation as we endeavour to get life supporting assistance for this couple. Also, if anyone knows a maternal fetal medicine specialist, we could use their contact information.

Update May 20 – (w/ultrasound report) Baby is currently about 1.8 lbs in weight and a proper little fighter at 28 weeks. Please keep up your prayers, and thank you God, for this tiny little girl, her parents and her big sister.

Steven Crowder's shameful reaction to 'Down syndrome Barbie' is neither Christian nor pro-life

On this week's solo episode of The Van Maren Show, Jonathon responds to conservative commentator Steven Crowder mocking the new "Down syndrome Barbie," calling it the reaction of a pro-abortion "eugenicist," not a Christian or a pro-lifer.

Last week, Mattel, the company behind the Barbie doll, announced it was releasing a Down syndrome Barbie to offer children an "opportunity to play with more inclusive dolls," according to an Inside Edition report. Crowder reacted to the report by joking that the doll promoted "retard strength" while laughing with co-hosts on his daily show.

When a woman with Down syndrome appeared in the video holding the doll, one of Crowder's co-hosts was heard saying, "Oh, no, oh, no." Crowder concluded his reaction by joking that Mattel was going to release a "sickle-cell Barbie" later this year, with the doll surrounded by baby dolls in front of a Planned Parenthood.

Crowder later posted a clip of his reaction to Twitter, which has since garnered him backlash from other conservatives and pro-lifers. Crowder is also under fire for a leaked video where he appeared to verbally abuse his wife, who was pregnant at the time and is now seeking to divorce him.

Noting that Crowder claims to be a pro-life Christian, Jonathon said, "The attitude he displays towards people with Down syndrome mirrors that of our pro-abortion culture, because in a society where people with Down syndrome are actually in danger of extinction, to ruthlessly mock a doll that raises awareness of their value as 'more retard' is to participate in the collective dehumanization that has brought us to where we are."

Discussing Mattel's decision to release the doll, Jonathon noted, "We don't even know what kinds of people could be part of our communities and how they could change our lives and make our society richer because we're killing them and we're discarding them like trash."

"And then a toy company comes out and actually does something good for a change with all of the progressive garbage, all of the gender bending nonsense, all of these things happening," he added. "And you actually have a toy company coming out and creating a doll of somebody with Down syndrome and [announcing] that this doll is breaking barriers by introducing children to the sort of person that many of them will never have met, and the sort of person that many of them will never have met because our society throws most of these people away."

Jonathon continued: The reaction of Crowder and his fellow alleged comedians is not the reaction of a Christian person. It's not the reaction of a pro-life person. It is the reaction of a Richard Dawkins. It is the reaction of a Planned Parenthood abortionist. It is the reaction of a eugenicist. It is the reaction of an ableist. That... is the attitude that Steven Crowder was displaying. And so when he says that the introduction of a doll who has Down syndrome is 'more retard,' he is expressing precisely the attitude that has tens of thousands of parents filing into abortion clinics to get rid of their children.

"Anybody who podcasts daily, anybody who comments on things nonstop, anybody who writes a lot of things, including myself, we'll get things wrong sometimes, we'll say things that we shouldn't, we'll say things that maybe came out too raw that lacked the appropriate amount of compassion, maybe even were too crude," Jonathon stated. "But after sober second thought, he chose to amplify this particular bit [by posting it to Twitter]."

Do Contraceptives Cause Abortions?

Dr. Monique Ruberu Interview

In this episode, Becket talks with a pro-life OB/GYN in Philadelphia about the ethics of IVF, contraceptives, and Napro technology. We learn that contraceptives are not only dangerous for women, but can actually lead to unintended abortions. We also talk about the abortion pill and how it works. We look at IVF and see that it too can lead to unintended abortions. We discuss the moral and ethical way of family planning. The Becket Cook Show Ep. 116:

From the Editor's Desk

by Virginia Miller

Editorial June 2023

I believe in God the Father Almighty, Creator of Heaven and Earth; and in Jesus Christ, His only Son, Our Lord.

For those of us who are Believers, we know that Jesus Christ walked the earth some 2000 years ago. The first line of the "Apostle's Creed", composed by His chosen Apostles, for all of His followers, clearly states that God is the Creator of Heaven and Earth; that means He created all Life. Belief in this Creed set His followers apart from those who claimed to follow God, yet set up their own rules, and failed to even acknowledge the Christ (who was long foretold). With the crucifixion of Christ, the persecution of His followers began.

And so it is today. But it is not just those of who believe in Christ, we who defend Life, who are facing persecution, all life is under severe attack. The gift of Life, which was once called a joy by all, is now called a burden. Contraception of all sorts is widely used to deliberately destroy even the possibility of new Life, making the womb into a coffin rather than a cradle; birth control that fails is backed up by abortion, the deliberate killing of a child already conceived in the womb. We are told that we can choose not to cooperate with God and co-create new Life. Doctors, who from ancient times, swore to "Do No Harm" are not only prescribing the pill to control birth, they are murdering babies through abortion.

Euthanasia and MAiD, those two legal avenues of death for those who are in terrible pain, or have incurable diseases, has mushroomed to include depression, disabilities, being poor, being homeless or just not wanting to live, as good reasons to grant this legal suicide/murder.

Our children are under severe attack as well, especially in the schools, which should be safe places of learning. The seeds of gender confusion are being sown everywhere. That God created each of us in His own Image is not even considered; children are told that they can create their own image, even if that means mutilating their bodies to agree with this new image. Thus, the child is destroyed, the child's future is destroyed and God is told to "butt out". Do not be fooled into thinking that this does not have anything to do with the right to life.

The Trans and Gender movements are absolutely direct assaults on Life as God created it. Just as the Serpent tempted Eve in the Garden by telling her that if she listened to him, she would be like God, the evil one is tempting us into thinking that we can recreate ourselves into our own image. Evil is like an octopus, with tentacles that reach into every facet of Life. This particular evil has its designs on every one of our children. And it is clever. It can trick one trustee on a school board into thinking that he is being charitable in catering to the beliefs of one gender confused child, rather than addressing the Truth of the confusion with Church teaching; and unbelievably, having absolutely no regard for any of the other students, especially those being persecuted for standing up for Truth. Clearly, the Truth that God created us in His own image; male and female He created us, is not being taught in school, it is being confused, and manipulated. The Author of Life, and Life Itself are scorned.

It has never been more apparent for all to see that Life and the defense of Life starts in the home with the cradle. For the sake of your souls and the souls of you children and grandchildren, remember the Vendee, and fight on.

"Whatever you do to the least of My brothers, that you do unto Me."
